Pronoun Case – Exercise 5
(THEY, THEM, THEIR, THEIRS, AND THEMSELVES)

Directions: Fill in the blanks with the appropriate choices—they, them, their, theirs, or themselves. Check your answers with the interactive version of the exercise.

1. Oblivious to the consequences, Erica and Teresa spend all of history class chattering in the back row. _______ constant gossiping inspires Mrs. David to look extra hard for points to deduct when she grades their essays.

   A. They

   B. Them

   C. Their

2. Marsha and Diane wrestled the sofa up the flight of stairs. Derrick—with muscles bursting from his shirt sleeves—offered to help, but the two women insisted that they could do it _______.

   A. theirself

   B. theirselves

   C. themself

   D. themselves

3. See those students over there? _______ will join you for a game if you want to share your basketball.

   A. They and I

   B. I and them
4. Yikes, those Nuclear Toaster fans are really rowdy! Too bad for you, seating is assigned, so you are between ________.
   A. Emilio and they
   B. they and Emilio
   C. Emilio and them

5. The squirrels crouched against the branches, stone still, as a hawk circled overhead. ________ and the other tree dwellers relaxed when the raptor finally abandoned the hunt and flew away.
   A. They
   B. Them

6. Joshua shushed the two students sitting behind him. ________ knuckle cracking and gum smacking were making him crazy as he tried to concentrate on the dissection demonstration.
   A. They
   B. Them
   C. Their

7. Are you hungry? Those students are selling escargot—snails roasted in butter and garlic. ________ and Mrs. Montaigne, the French teacher, are trying to raise money for a trip to Paris.
   A. They
   B. Them
Jacob and Ryan argued about the calculus problem. Marie offered the answer, but they wanted to solve the equation __________.

A. theirself
B. theirselves
C. themself
D. themselves

Stop yelling at the cat and look at the dogs! It is ________ who are guilty of tipping over the trash.

A. they
B. them

The students milled around the parking lot. ________ waited for the fire marshal to declare the alarm a prank and allow everyone back into the classrooms.

A. Their professors and they
B. Their professors and them
C. Them and their professors

All of the cans in Sara’s cupboards have their labels facing forward, like soldiers at attention. Sara has further organized ________ in alphabetical order.

A. they and the cereal boxes
B. the cereal boxes and they
C. them and the cereal boxes

Monica asked if the test was open book. Leo wanted to know if he could use his notes. Albert pleaded for extra credit opportunities. Professor Edmundson continued the review session, ignoring ________ and their silly questions.

A. they
B. them
13. The hungry angel fish pecked at the aquarium glass. Felicia was oblivious to _______ and their needs, intent as she was on finishing her last-minute, 20-page paper for Greek & Roman Humanities.

A. they
B. them

14. Look at those students laughing and pointing this way. Perhaps it was _______ who slipped the whoopee cushion under your seat.

A. they
B. them

15. While Tanya and I spent all night studying for the chemistry exam, our roommates ate pizza and watched movies. When we both received As, we felt superior to _______.

A. they and their Ds
B. them and their Ds
C. their Ds and themselves

16. Because Rebecca over fertilized the garden, the tomato plants sagged with fruit. _______ will make a summer full of salads for a family that prefers fast-food burgers and pizza.

A. They and the giant heads of lettuce
B. Them and the giant heads of lettuce
C. The giant heads of lettuce and them
17. The Bartletts made painting the house a family project. When they finished the two-story dwelling, they treated _______ to a weekend at the beach with the money they saved.

A. themself
B. theirselves
C. themselves

18. Look at that flock of pigeons peering down at us from the power line. I’ll bet it was _______ who defecated all over the roof of our clean car.

A. they
B. them

19. The Jacksons are really struggling with that push mower. Perhaps we should offer _______ the use of our riding mower so that the torture can end.

A. they and their lawn
B. their lawn and they
C. them and their lawn

20. The talent show contestants couldn’t sing or play guitar. We applauded _______ because we knew we might bomb just as badly when our turn on stage arrived.

A. they and their poor effort
B. them and their poor effort
C. their poor effort and they